ETHNIC STUDIES

The Ethnic Studies minor and concentration are interdisciplinary programs focused on the experiences of historically marginalized racial and ethnic groups (including African, Latina/o, Asian, and Native Americans) within the United States. Ethnic Studies promotes a broader understanding of the historical, geographical, political, economic, social, and cultural complexity of these racial/ethnic groups, and the structural inequality in which these groups' experiences are maintained and embedded.

Ethnic Studies courses often explore the rich contributions to the production of knowledge issuing from various racial/ethnic groups in the US that tend to be underrepresented in the curriculum, for example, in sciences, social sciences, arts, humanities, and the professions. Based on a discipline emerging out of civil rights movements, Ethnic Studies courses also often explore historical and contemporary social movements and encourage active and reflective learning in the pursuit of racial and social justice. The curriculum emphasizes creating a community within the classroom where students learn from one another, experience personal empowerment, and develop as agents of racial and social justice in a diverse and complex world. As a result, students develop a heightened racial, ethnic, and social consciousness toward promoting a more just and equitable society.

Ethnic Studies Minor (18 credits):

ET-100 Introduction to Ethnic Studies (3 credits)

Five elective Ethnic Studies (ETH) courses (15 credits)

- At least one elective course must be at the 300 level or higher
- A maximum of two elective courses can come from the student’s major*
- A maximum of four elective courses can come from any single department

*If the Ethnic Studies Minor is part of a Liberal Studies Major, this maximum does not apply.

Ethnic Studies Concentration (15 credits):

Program Structure and Requirements

- Offered as an interdisciplinary concentration
- 15 credits total across at least two disciplines
- Required course (3 credits): ET-100: Introduction to Ethnic Studies
- Core Courses (12 Credits): Chosen from approved list of electives across departments

Faculty

As an interdisciplinary concentration, Ethnic Studies draws faculty from multiple disciplines across the campus. Each faculty member’s information can be found at the respective department that offers each of the courses. Additionally, the Ethnic Studies Program seeks to build linkages between Academic Affairs and Student Affairs to support students’ academic success and the enrichment of the campus culture.

EN-120 Race in Comics

LASC Categories: TLC, USW, DAC, DIV

Comics offers a unique combination of tools for representing race. Artists have long used either language or visual art to think about identity, but comics merges the two in new ways. In this course, students analyze innovative comics and graphic novels/nonfiction to better understand why this medium is such a productive way to reflect on racial identity. How do comics authors engage with the difficult history of racial caricature and the longstanding lack of diversity in the field? And what can the combination of image and text say about the tension between appearance and identity?

Every 2-3 years. 3 Credits

EN-169 Ethnic Literature in the U.S.

LASC Categories: USW, TLC, DAC

EN-170 Search for Identity
LASC Categories: DAC, TLC, DIV
This course is designed to explore the topic of identity in literature, which may include gender, race, ethnicity, philosophy, body image, physical ability/disability, etc. The course will examine each literary text for the relative importance of the various aspects of identity for each author/character and the intersectionality of identity. Questions to consider will include: which identity is prioritized (by the individual and by society) in any given situation? What or who determines which aspect of identity is prioritized at different moments? How do conflicts in identity for an individual get resolved? Other or on demand. 3 Credits

EN-328 Narratives of U.S. Immigration
LASC Categories: TLC, USW, DAC
Prerequisites: EN-102 or EN-202
In this course students examine narratives of United States immigration in literature, film, and history. The immigrant narrative is both a foundational American story and also a story of the outsider to American culture. Students explore how authors navigate these conflicting poles, and how they complicate myths of the U.S. as a melting pot and land of opportunity. Topics for discussion include: assimilation and pluralism; citizenship, class, ethnicity, gender, language, nationality, race, and religion; diaspora, labor; nativism and xenophobia; and the social, legal, and political history of American immigration.

EN-370 Antislavery Literature
LASC Categories: TLC, USW, DAC, WAC
Prerequisites: EN-102 or EN-202 or EN-250
This course traces the literary history of the antislavery movement in the Atlantic World: writing in a range of genres, antislavery writers made a significant contribution to the end of the slave trade and slavery. These texts also shaped the history and memory of legal enslavement and its aftermath. While the Atlantic system of legal slavery ended in the nineteenth century, an even larger system of illegal slavery still exists, and so the course concludes by considering the work of contemporary antislavery writers and what they might learn from their predecessors.
