EDUCATION STUDIES MINOR

Many courses of study at WSU lead students to pursue school-based careers or careers that may require a general background in the theoretical and practical aspects of teaching, learning, school contexts, diversity, and child development. This minor provides opportunities for students who are not enrolled in an initial licensure program through the education department to gain knowledge and skills in these areas without having to engage in a full licensure program.

The minor does not lead to initial license in education and does not require students to take the MTEL exams. The Education Studies Minor is a minimum of 18 credits. At least 3 credits must be at the 300/400 level
